Adding result to injury

We'll get the best outcome for your clients

The only personal injury expertise you need is to know us

Personal injury law is complex. Legislation, court procedure and case law change constantly. Keeping up to date with the latest developments can be a full-time occupation in itself.

Although it may not be your area of specialisation, there's a chance that many of your clients – both new and established – will look to you for personal injury claims guidance.

By involving Allan McDougall Solicitors via our Injury Compensation Alliance, you can serve your clients' needs without compromising your reputation. And we'll divide the fees between us.

Reasons you may wish to refer a claim to us:

- You're too busy to handle it yourself
- The defenders' insurers have rejected the claim or are unresponsive
- The case involves expensive outlays – liability reports and medical reports
- You don't know how to proceed, and your client is getting impatient
- The case is surprisingly complex
- You're unsure about quantum, and risk under-settling

Never disappoint or turn away clients

Like many other law firms across Scotland, you can ensure your clients get the expertise they deserve by referring cases to Allan McDougall Solicitors.

Your client will remain your client

If you refer a client to us, we'll enhance the relationship you have with them. Not jeopardise it. So if – after we've completed our work – they return to us directly, we'll send them straight back to you.

There are few hands safer than ours

We've earned the trust of many law firms across the country. And we do mean earned. Because our team of specialist lawyers handles thousands of personal injury claims every year. Our experts include three Law Society of Scotland accredited personal injury specialists and two Association of Personal Injury Lawyers accredited senior litigators.

The cases include workplace accidents, road traffic and cycling accidents, work-related diseases and medical negligence.

The many industry awards that we've won, and the numerous testimonials we've received from satisfied clients and referrers, all confirm the quality of our work.

So how would a referral work?

There are a number of ways that we can work with you as part of our Injury Compensation Alliance.

1. We can act as an agency

Which means we:

- Have no direct contact with your clients
- Litigate cases in the Court of Session or the All-Scotland Sheriff Personal Injury Court
- Split the fees with you on a fair and reasonable basis

2. We can handle everything

Which means we:

- Take over the case
- Either pay you a fee immediately
- Or pay you an agreed share of our fees on completion

3. We can offer a consultancy service

Which means we:

- Review cases and help with any aspects that cause concern
- Serve as a fresh pair of eyes; and work out the next steps
- Supplement your resources – especially if you're a lone solicitor working on personal injury cases

Would you like to hear more details? Or do you already have a particular case you'd like to discuss?

Whichever it is, Julie Harris, head of our personal injury team, would love to talk things over with you.
